But when I see source code of the page, I found that same meta tags are added again in head part of the page. I want to know, is there any way to add meta tags only for some pages, not all pages. A: I think you're looking for a single type of single-page navigation, which is an alternative to having to place same meta tags each time you create a new page. You can add the following code to your single-function.php file for that purpose. If you are using the Genesis Framework it might be in the child theme's file. if ( is_singular( 'page' ) || is_singular( 'post' ) ) { wp_title( '|', true, 'right' ); // Change 'right' to 'left' for a left-align title. } /* * Copyright (C) 2010-2020 Structr GmbH * This file is part of Structr. * * Structr is free software: you can redistribute it and/or modify * it under the terms of the GNU Affero General Public License as * published by the Free Software Foundation, either version 3 of the * License, or (at your option) any later version. * * Structr is distributed in the hope that it will be useful, * but WITHOUT ANY WARRANTY; without even the implied warranty of * MERCHANTABILITY or FITNESS FOR A PARTICULAR PURPOSE. The Hill reported: She accused CNN White House correspondent April Ryan on Thursday over lying, a claim Ryan refuted on Twitter. "Ms. Ryan — if that is your real name, I don't know what's worse — you can go peddle your fake news elsewhere!" Sanders tweeted. Ryan was referring to a story that Sanders said she disputed appeared in the far-left "National Enquirer." When Ryan put that question to Sanders, she blamed Sanders for not answering and said Sanders had "made no mention" of the story. ....
